Before performing service on any product, read the service manual in its entirety for the service to be performed. Only perform repairs for which you have the proper skills and appropriate tools. Non-Hobart Service technicians who repair or service commercial food equipment assume sole responsibility for any work performed and release Hobart Service and its parent and affiliates of any liability for improper repair or service and for any property damages or personal injuries that may occur as a result thereof, and agree to defend, indemnify, and hold Hobart Service and its parent and affiliates harmless.
